Privacy Policy

In order to provide legal advice and representation, I need to collect and hold personal information. This may be your personal data or information relating to other parties involved in the matter. I will take all possible steps to protect personal information. I will ensure that I do not do anything that may infringe your rights or undermine your trust. This privacy notice describes the information I collect about you, how it is used and shared, and your rights regarding it.

Data controller

I, Louis Triggs, am a member of Pump Court Tax Chambers. I am registered with the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO) as a Data Controller for the personal data that I hold and process as a barrister. My registered address is Pump Court Tax Chambers, 16 Bedford Row, London, WC1R 4EF and my ICO registration number is ZB992417. If you need to contact me about your data or this privacy notice, you can reach me at clerks@pumptax.com.

Data collection

The vast majority of the information that I hold about you is provided to, or gathered by, me in the course of your case and/or proceedings. Your solicitor, accountant or other advisor ("your advisor") and/or I will tell you why we need the information and how we will use it. In addition to the information you may provide to me or your advisor, I also obtain information from other sources as follows:

- Information that is available publicly in registers, searches or in the media;
- Other legal professionals including solicitors and barristers and their associates, trainees and staff;
- Other advisory professionals including accountants and tax advisors;
- Chambers staff;
- Expert witnesses;
- Prosecution bodies;
- Regulatory, public or administrative bodies;
- Court staff & officials;
- Clients;
- References.

What data do I process about you?

Depending on the type of work, I collect and process both personal data and special categories of personal data as defined in the UK General Data Protection Regulation (the UK GDPR). This may include:

- Name;
- Email address;
- Phone number;
- Address;
- Payment or bank details;
- Date of birth;
- Next of kin details;
- Details pertaining to education and employment;
- Information on your background & current circumstances;
- Financial information.

Where relevant, I may also need to process special category personal data that reveals your:

- Racial or ethnic origin;
- Political opinions;
- Religious and philosophical beliefs;
- Trade union membership;
- Genetic data;
- Biometric data for the purpose of uniquely identifying a natural person;
- Data concerning health;
- Sex life and sexual orientation.

On occasion, I may also process personal data relating to criminal convictions and offences.

My lawful basis for processing your information

In order that I can provide legal services and representation for you, I must process your personal data. The UK General Data Protection Regulation (“the UK GDPR”) requires that where I process personal data, I must have a lawful basis for doing so. The lawful bases identified in the UK GDPR that I seek to rely upon are as follows:

- Consent of the data subject – Where this required, I will ensure that I have your specific consent for processing your data for the specified purposes. You will also have the right to withdraw your consent at any time. Where you do so this will not affect the legality of data processing which had taken place prior to your withdrawal of consent.

- Performance of a contract with the data subject, or to take steps to enter into a contract.
- Compliance with a legal obligation – To comply with various regulatory and professional obligations, e.g. filing tax returns with HMRC.
- The legitimate interests of my business or a third party, except where such interests are overridden by the interests, rights or freedoms of the data subject.

Examples of legitimate interests include but are not limited to:

- Provision of legal services and advice;
- For purposes of practice management, accounting and debt recovery;
- For completion of professional regulatory requirements;
- Processing for direct marketing purposes, or to prevent fraud;
- Reporting threats to public security;
- Such other purposes as set out below.

Special category processing

The UK GDPR specifies that where I process special category data, I must rely upon certain exemptions in order to do so lawfully. The following exemptions are applicable in my practice:

1. I have your explicit consent to do so; or
2. It is necessary for the exercise or defence of legal claims or judicial acts.

Criminal data processing

On occasion, I process data relating to criminal offences where it is necessary for:

- The purpose of, or in connection with, any legal proceedings;
- The purpose of obtaining legal advice; or
- The purposes of establishing, exercising or defending legal rights
- Where I have your explicit consent to do so.

Purposes:

I use your personal information for the following purposes:

- Providing legal advice and representation;
- Assisting in training pupils and mini-pupils;
- Investigating and addressing your concerns;
- Communicating with you about news, updates and events;
- Investigating or addressing legal proceedings relating to your use of my services, or as otherwise allowed by applicable law;
- Making statutory returns as required by government or regulatory bodies;
- Assisting in any tendering or panel membership applications;
- Assisting in any other applications for the purpose of professional development or career progression;
- Communicating legal updates and judgments to other legal professionals;
- For marketing purposes (including submissions for legal directories);
- For the management and administration of my practice;
- Recovering debt;
- Managing complaints with regulators;
- Communicating with regulators;
- Conducting anti money laundering, terrorist financing or conflict of interest checks where relevant.

In the course of processing your information to provide legal services to you, I may share your personal data with:

- Instructing solicitors or other lawyers involved in your case;
- Instructing accountants or other advisors involved in your case;
- A pupil or mini-pupil under my training;
- Opposing counsel or other representatives for the purposes of resolving the case;
- Court Officials, including the Judiciary;
- Opposing lay clients, including litigants in person;
- My chambers' management, clerks, and other staff who provide administrative services for my practice;
- Expert witnesses and other witnesses;
- My regulator or legal advisors in the event of a dispute, complaint or other legal matter;
- Head of Chambers or complaints committee within my chambers, in the event of a complaint;
- Law enforcement officials, government authorities, or other third parties, to meet any legal obligations;
- Legal directories, for the purpose of professional development;
- Any relevant panel or tendering committee, for the purpose of professional development;

- Accountants and banking officials;
- Regulators or arbitrators, where complaints or disputes arise;
- Any other party where I ask you for consent, and you consent, to the sharing;
- Where required by law or pursuant to a court order, the Police or Intelligence services.

Transfers to third countries and international organisations

My practice is based in the UK, and I use a cloud storage system which is based in the EU, so your data may be stored in the UK and also transferred to the EU.

This Privacy Notice is of general application and it is not possible to state whether it will be necessary to transfer your information to other countries in any particular case. When using cloud storage and other internet services for professional purposes, data may be transferred to the United States of America and other jurisdictions (with appropriate security measures enabled).

Where I need to share your data with others (as described under the previous sub-heading) who are based outside the UK, or transfer data for some other reason, I expect that I will only transfer the data where the following apply:

1. The jurisdiction to which the data is transferred is covered by the UK's "adequacy regulations".
2. If 1 does not apply, there are appropriate safeguards in place in both my practice and the third party's organisation. These will be commensurate to the safeguards afforded to data subjects under UK GDPR and I will ensure the same through the completion of transfer impact assessments.
3. If appropriate safeguards are not in place, then I will include additional measures (such as Standard Contractual Clauses in contracts with those to whom I will transfer data) so your personal data is appropriately safeguarded.
4. If 1, 2 or 3 do not apply, then I will only transfer the data:
 - a. Where it is necessary to establish whether you have a legal claim, to make a legal claim or to defend a legal claim; or
 - b. Under a contract between us, or to be entered between us, because the transfer is necessary to enter or perform such a contract; or
 - c. Under a contract between us, or to be entered between us, which benefits another individual whose data is being transferred, because the transfer is necessary to enter into or perform such contract.
5. I may also transfer data outside the UK where you have given your explicit consent to transfer data outside the UK after having been advised on the possible risks. You may also withdraw your consent, but this withdrawal will not affect the legality of any transfers before the withdrawal.

If you are outside of the UK, I will only process your data in accordance with this Privacy Notice, the UK GDPR and the Data Protection Act 2018.

Retention of Data

I will retain your personal data while you remain a client unless you ask me to delete it. My Retention and Disposal Policy (copy available on request) details how long I hold data for and how I dispose of it when it no longer needs to be held. I will delete or anonymise your information at your request unless:

- There is an unresolved issue, such as a claim or dispute;
- I am legally required to; or
- There are overriding legitimate business interests to do so.

I will typically retain electronic case files for a period of 15 years following the conclusion of a case/matter or receipt of final payment, whichever is the latest. This reflects the period required by the Bar Mutual Indemnity Fund relating to potential limitation periods.

Where various pleadings and documents have been drafted, they may be retained for learning purposes and legal research. Where this is the case, I will anonymise the personal information, redact information which may identify an individual, and risk assess the continued retention of the documents.

Your rights

The UK GDPR gives you specific rights in terms of your personal data. For example, you have the right of access to the information I hold and what I use it for; you can ask for a copy of the personal information I hold about you.

You can ask me to correct any inaccuracies with the personal data I hold, and you can ask me to stop sending you direct mail or emails or, in some circumstances, ask me to stop processing your details.

Finally, if I do something irregular or improper with your personal data, you can complain to the ICO if you are unhappy with how I have processed your information or dealt with your query. You may also seek compensation for any distress you are caused or loss you have incurred.

You can find out more information from the ICO's website:

http://ico.org.uk/for_the_public/personal_information

Accessing and correcting your information

You may request access to, correction of, or a copy of your information by contacting me at clerks@pumptax.com.

Marketing opt-outs

You may opt out of receiving emails and other messages from my practice by following the instructions in those messages.

Changes to this privacy notice

This privacy notice was published on 30 September 2025.

I continually review my privacy practices and may change this policy from time to time. When I make changes, the updated policy will be placed on the website.
